Where a visa application is refused, cancelled, expires, or requires re-submission for any reason, the applicant shall be responsible for all additional costs, government fees, and service charges associated with any subsequent application.

The Customer acknowledges that the grant of a visa does not guarantee entry into any country, as admission remains at the sole discretion of the relevant immigration authorities at the point of entry.

7.3 Airline Operational Changes

We shall not be liable for any losses, inconvenience, delays, missed connections, or additional expenses arising from airline operational decisions, schedule disruptions, strikes, technical issues, weather conditions, air traffic restrictions, or any other circumstances outside our reasonable control.

7.4 Stopover, Transit & Entry Requirements

Where a flight itinerary includes a transit, layover, stopover, self-transfer, or connecting destination, it is the Customer's sole responsibility to verify and ensure compliance with all applicable entry, transit, immigration, health, and visa requirements for each country included in the itinerary.

This includes, but is not limited to:

- Transit visa requirements.
- Entry permits and immigration approvals.
- Passport validity requirements.
- Health declarations and vaccination requirements.
- Any nationality-specific restrictions or conditions of entry.

We do not guarantee eligibility to enter, transit through, or remain within any country and accept no responsibility for any refusal of entry, denied boarding, missed connection, deportation, detention, visa refusal, or related costs incurred as a result of the Customer's failure to satisfy the applicable requirements.
